CIIF MARKET was born 20 years ago with the vocation of becoming a meeting point for European producers, distributors and investors, with the aim of promoting the search for financing and encouraging the international co-production of feature films, documentaries and television series for the global market.

To carry out this initiative, CIIF MARKET launches an international public call for the registration of projects of fiction or documentary feature films, tv movies and series and miniseries for television (fiction or docuseries) in development stage through its database of industry professionals, media and the official website of the market www.ciifmarket.com.

CIIF MARKET will select up to a maximum of 12 projects to participate in its National and International Section and up to a maximum of 5 Canarian projects to be presented in the Focus Canarias Section. The main selection criteria will be based on the quality of the projects, that they are aimed at the international market, the talent of the directors or producers and the viability of the financing plan. The producers of the projects must present a budget in euros and a financing plan with at least 20% already secured. The final selection will seek a balance between commercial projects and others with greater creative risk. The projects must be recent and unpublished, be in the development phase and not have exhausted all possible avenues of financing.

Participants will have the possibility of having a personalized agenda of appointments and pitching sessions with the professionals and recipients invited to co-produce their projects. They will also have access to all the market and networking activities of CIIF Market 2023.
